Conjunctions

The four Latin conjunctions we've met so far are...

et	sed	quod	itaque
and	but	because	therefore, so

Find a good conjunction and phrase from the bottom of the page to complete these sentences. You may find it easier if you translate all the sentences first before you match them. Note that more than one conjunction may work in a sentence, so pick whichever you prefer. The first one has been done to show you how.

* = you may have chosen a different conjunction

1. amicus es [quod] bonus et probus es

translation: You are a friend because you are good and honest.

2. mater in horto laborabat [itaque*] pater in villa manebat

translation: Mum was working in the garden so dad was staying in the house.

3. tres sorores habeo [sed*] duo fratres habetis

translation: I have three sisters but y'all have two brothers.

4. vaccae per silva ambulant [et*] equi per campo currunt

translation: The cows walk through the wood and the horses run through the field.

5. rex insulam bene regebat [sed*] duces urbem male regebant

translation: The king was ruling the island well but the leaders were ruling the city badly.

6. soror prima est [itaque*] frater secundus est

translation: The sister is first therefore the brother is second.

7. dormimus [quod*] nox est

translation: We are sleeping because it is night.

8. mater "nolite pugnare!" clamat [quod*] infantes irate pugnant

translation: Mum shouts, "Don't fight!" because the children are fighting angrily.

9. valida sum [itaque*] celeriter curro

translation: I am strong so I run fast.

10. magus lunam quaerit [et*] stellas invenit

translation: The wizard looks for the moon and finds the stars.

---

frater secundus est	pater in villa manebat	duces urbem male regebant
_____	_____	_____

bonus et probus es
you are good and honest	duo fratres habetis	nox est / stellas invenit
	_____	_____ / _____

| equi per campo currunt | infantes irate pugnant | celeriter curro |
| _____ | _____ | _____ |