

Athena's Owl Pot

Using a coil or pinch pot technique, make a basic pot about 10cm high.

Wrap the pot in cling film to stop it from drying out.

Roll a ball of clay about the size of a small orange.

Flatten it until it is the same depth as two pennies.

Cut out a circle from the clay.

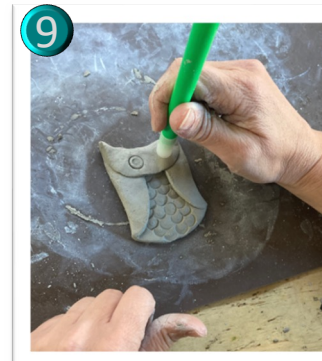

Use the end of a pen to make feather shapes on the bottom half of the circle.

Fold in the two outside edges of the circle to make wings

Fold over the top bit of the circle and pinch to make the owl's ears.

Use the end of a pen lid to give the owl some eyes.

Unwrap your pot and make some scratches where you want the owl to stick on.

Press the owl onto the scratched part of the pot. Smooth the bottom of the owl underneath the pot.

If you want, you can add more detail such as feet, a beak or more feathers.

Leave the pot to dry (air drying clay takes about a week).
